

Basil

aka Tucker

Basil was rescued from a backyard breeder situation in south-eastern Ohio. He was eight weeks old and one of seven pups of the litter. He was rescued by Vilma Briggs and Karen Bell. Basil found his home through Thirdtyme Rescue. He lived with Karen Bell for a few weeks in Harrison, Ohio before he went to his forever home with Korry Vargo and Sara Christiano in Lebanon, New Hampshire.

Basil was a very sweet and adorable berner pup. He was easy going and playful...just an all around great little bundle. He came into rescue with worms, fleas and ticks but once that was taken care of, he was just plain joy. When Basil went to live with Korry and Sara, he became known as Tucker. They also refer to him as Tuckerman. He is a very lucky pup and spends his days in the great outdoors with Korry as he works. Tucker enjoys walking the woods and ski trails of New Hampshire and Vermont. His owners recently reported to me that his favorite new game is chasing skiis down the slopes in the snow. He is truly a mountain dog.

Korry and Sara have expressed to Vilma and I how much they love Tucker and how happy they are to have him in their lives. Their entire network of family and friends enjoy seeing Tucker at holidays and special events.
